It is ridiculous to expect business owners to police mask wearing. The public understands the " risk " that may be possible not wearing a mask. Allow people to make their own decisions. The county businesses are loosing money because of mask mandates and many consumers are visiting surrounding counties that do not impose such mandates. These fines seem like a way for the county to earn money and control and not at all a concern for public health and safety. As far as health and safety goes people should be allowed to make those decisions for themselves. It has been hard enough as a business owner to attempt to recover from the hardships of being shut down and now consumers visiting surrounding areas that aren't mandating mask wearing instead of Charles County. You are forcing businesses and consumers out of the county
