For 2 years now our lives have been turned upside down due to Covid. My wife & I have both had Covid and we have subsequently been vaccinated and have received the booster. We did this to feel "normal" again. As a result of the vaccinations, our likelihood of getting Covid again has been significantly reduced. The chances of us being hospitalized, if we do contract it, is almost zero. We have followed the mandates to the letter. Whilst the mask may reduce the chances of spreading Covid, it is not even remotely as effective as the steps we have already taken. The only reason for the mask is to protect those that cannot, or refuse to be vaccinated. O feel for those that, for genuine medical reasons, cannot be vaccinated. For those that refuse to be vaccinated on moral, spiritual, or conspiritual grounds, I have no sympathy and refuse to continue to modify my life to accommodate theirs. During the last mask mandate, my wife & I shopped in La Plata and traveled outside of Maryland to shop and visit restaurants and attractions. Should you implement this selfish policy, we will do the same. Stop pandering to the conspiracy theorist minority by punishing those of us who have followed your vaccination advice. It's time to feel normal again.
