It's ridiculous that masks are required. If I have to run out to the store really quickly & forget to grab a mask, I have to either go all the way back home or risk not being able to get what I need. Sure, some stores have some to give out but not every store has them openly available. Plus with small businesses, if they're required to have consumers wear a mask, there is a large chance they'll end up losing people's business to go to another county or state where it isn't required. All in all, requiring masks is dumb & needs to end.
