I am against the mandating of wearing masks. If people choose to wear a mask fantastic, however, I should be forced to wear one. I should not lose my ability to shop for my family because I don't want to wear a covering over my face that restricts not only my ability to effectively communicate but also my very breathing. The science has proven that masks do not work to prevent the spread of viruses. And they certainly aren't protecting your neighbor. The other issue at play here, aside from my bodily autonomy, is government overreach. It is not, nor should it ever be, the government's place to tell me what medical choices I should make. Wearing a mask is a medical choice. This country was founded on the premise of freedom... particularly freedom from an overbearing, uncontrolled government. Your power is and should remain limited.
