For 2 years now we have been forced to wear masks that are seemingly useless. The rights of individuals to make conscious decisions on their own behalf have been taken away to further a fear campaign over a virus with a survival rate of 95% or better. These masking mandates are taking its toll on everyone's well being. Had anyone thought about the impact this is having on children? If you think that is not causing anxiety and mental stress then you need to look a little closer. Small businesses are also paying a price. Enforce these unfair mandates and potentially loose their business due to people not wanting to visit their establishments because they are forced to "muzzle" or take a stand against enforcing the mandate and get fined, still possibly loosing their business and means of providing for not only their families but the families of their employees. How much longer are we going to have our right to make adult decisions taken from so that unlawful "mandates " can be forced on the population based on the opinions of some people? We need to work towards getting back to "normal" rather than continuing to fear monger and unlawfully force people to do something they feel does not benefit them.
