This is a gross use of community resources, and I am disgusted that this is even a topic of discussion. I am not against masking if people want to, but imposing a fine for not masking or a mandate to force masking is a slippery slope that is a disturbing overstep of government capability. It is our right as US citizens to breathe air freely in our community. Assuming that everyone around you is infected with a virus and fining them for not following along is alienation and a very big concern for the future of this community. I am strongly against any form of mandate or fine to progress this fear of government to gain more power over the finances of the people. I am wholeheartedly sickened by this.
