As a person with a background in medical science and as someone who has been looking into the scientific finding related to masks, I oppose mandating the use of masks. No human being should be made to wear something against their will. That would be a violation of basic human rights. In addition, research published in scientific journals from around the world have shown that masks and lockdowns don't reduce or prevent the spread. I suggest our health department spend more time and resources on educating the public on how to strengthen their natural immunity and how to eliminate lifestyle choices that lead to a weakened immune system, such as poor diet and toxicity for cigarettes, alcohol, pesticides, and some cosmetics and cleaning supplies... etc. Human dignity and human freedom should be above everything else. The job of our health department is to provide evidence based information to the public, then leave it up to the people to decide for them selves weather to apply it to their personal lives or not.
