To reinstate a mask mandate is to seemingly reaffirm that mask mandates work in the fight against Covid. With the mountain of data that has been gathered over the last 18 months, how could you come to the conclusion that masks work? In Italy, despite endless mask mandates and strict vaccine passport laws, cases have reached a new high. Check out Ontario, where mask mandates and vaccine passports have failed utterly as cases surge. In Los Angeles, their mask mandates somehow haven't kept them from reaching a new high in cases. The same thing is happening in Australia. In the UK cases are up 296% since reinstating mask mandates a month ago. Same story in Scotland. Same in New York. Same in Quebec. I could keep listing places but hopefully you get the idea. The examples are endless and the information is easily available should you choose to do a shred of research. One would have to be delusional to conclude that masks are helpful in fighting Covid spread, therefore reinstating the mandate would point to delusion on the part of the commissioners (or perhaps you are of sound mind but have ulterior motives). Should the mandate be reinstated, I will not participate in this delusional clown show, and I will continue to shop in St. Mary's County and Fredericksburg, VA as many of my friends and family also started to do many months ago.
