Though a St Mary's County resident, I work in Charles County, am a longtime church member in Charles County, and do much of my shopping after work in Charles County. I am opposed to any county mandating this kind of control over citizens, businesses, and organizations. Individuals have the right to make decisions to best protect themselves if they are concerned about their health. Businesses and organizations should have the right to establish safety requirements for their business location. This is government overreach and a dangerous precedent for future control. The current state of the virus does not warrant this level of government influence over citizens.
