Before passing any such face-covering requirement, the Charles County Board of Commissioners is first required to show evidence that a public health emergency actually exists. Second, the commissioners are required to exhibit the proven efficacy, scientifically-speaking, of facial coverings to significantly reduce the rate of disease transmission. The irrational persistence of the County Board of Commissioners to attempt to force Charles County residents and businesses to wear facial coverings---with no sound science to rationalize any such requirements---is strange and unusual. Perhaps the Board can provide data and evidence as a way of explaining their zealous urge to have all of Charles County continue to wear masks 2 years after the lockdowns were initiated.
