As a Korean War vet, I know all too well the importance of the 2nd Amendment. When government cannot and will not control crime and tries to take away the freedoms that me...and so many others...fought to protect, something is wrong. It's not power for the government, it's power for the PEOPLE. That the commissioners would seek to exclude themselves from the rules that the average citizen is to follow, speaks volumes in a negative way. Freedom isn't to be divided up among a few people, freedom is for ALL people.
