To Whom This May Concerns, I fully support this project to build an affordable living housing because it would allow senior citizens in Charles County to have affordable housing that would benefit the community and surrounding areas of Indian Head, Waldorf, La Plata, and White Plains. This project would generate economic growth within the community, give the residents and senior citizen residents a more vibrant sense of pride in being part of a growing community as a whole. The Master's Child Church would be a beacon of hope in this community in providing safe, secure, faith-based quality of care living for the seniors within this community. This project to build an affordable living for seniors would provide affordable housing with accessible amenities within the housing area (stores, shops, hospitals, faith organizations, financial institutions, and government agencies. It would be a great disservice to Charles County if this project becomes dormant in the eyes of the civic leaders of this county not to have heartfelt concerns to provide a more quality affordable housing for the seniors in Charles County to have a sense of pride to call home.
