Dear Commissioners, I respectfully ask that you give careful consideration to the proposals set forth by the Agricultural Task Commission tonight, and to the concerns of landowners in Charles County. As an owner of a small farm myself, 45 acres, I am familiar with the concept of agro-tourism and its importance in giving farmers and landowners a means to keep their properties both financially viable and intact. Landowners free up needed tax resources, use less public resources such as school seats, street lights, side walks, snow removal, etc., while preserving valuable property for the sake of wildlife and the health of the surrounding environment. The task force has spent countless volunteer hours to come up with reasonable solutions to make agro-tourism both safe for the community and a viable option for landowners to offer their services. I hope you will give your full attention to this important matter that ultimately affects the entire county population. Sincerely, Holly Dunbar
