As former chair of both the Chamber's ED&T Committee and Airport Task Force, as well as a former Chair of the original Economic Development Commission, I am dismayed at how our County has disregarded critical economic opportunities such as the Science and Tech Park and the Maryland Airport. It is fortunate that now Indian Head has become the center for innovation, a leader in business attraction and ultimately fiscal success for the entire county. The Maryland Airport - a neighbor, can also become the asset it was meant to be. One, that has been supported at both State and Federal levels but allowed to linger in a non productive state by County politics. It is clearly time to re evaluate your commitment to non residents and ultra conservatives who have negatively influenced over many years, our chance to enhance our economic position. Western Charles County is the region set to become a positive economic powerhouse - a benefit to all our citizens. Now is certainly the time to step up by supporting the rezoning of the land adjacent to the Maryland Airport, our critical partner.
