To rezone 558 acres from WCD to EID all to support a privately owned airport doesn't make sense. The airport already has 277 acres all of it's very own. Why not let the new owner do as he plans INSIDE the fence before jumping on an "economic engine" bandwagon that may never come to fruition (harken back to the Indian Head Tech Park where it failed spectacularly and citizens had to pony up $6.2 million to make developers whole). Just say NO to rezoning the WCD. Preserve the natural resources that makes for a stable base on which to build healthy communities and is a proven source of income to CC. Add, too, I'd bet all 5 of you commissioners are aware the WCD had huge support from the citizens of Charles County and has been codified in the Comp Plan update (which had huge approval ratings, too). Why go against that of which so many approve? The perceived haste to upend the WCD with the thought of a new and enhanced, up-to-date privately-owned airport sounds more like a boondoggle than a real economic plan. That won't fly.
