The airport expansion, for which the amendment was devised, represents removal of the benefits to the community of the protections and economic opportunities afforded by this land and transferring it to a private out-of-county owner. The Amendment would fragment forest and wildlife corridors in an area with documented biodiversity. The propeller planes use leaded gas that pollute local communities. The Amendment is a threat to a nationally recognized bass fishing habitat that drives local ecotourism. The Commissioners at the hearing repeatedly denied any environmental damage from the airport expansion, which is totally inconsistent with the content of the scientific reports which spurred the creation of the Watershed Conservation District.
