Charles County residents are responsible enough to make their own health decisions without being forced to wear masks. If there was evidence that masks help keep one healthy, that would be one thing. If this virus had a survivability rate of less than 99%, that ( might) be another thing. If we lived on an island and the nearest stores and restaurants were 500 miles away, that would be another thing. If the physical health was the only thing that mattered to you (ignoring emotional, financial and spiritual health), that would be another story. If you desire you make your neighbors into your enemies, then you'll want to impose these horrible measures on the community. And if you want to spit in the face of half ( or more) of your constituents, then yes, enforce these measures and start fining people who will not comply. Thanks to the lockdowns I've learned that stocking up is not that hard and saves me many trips to Waldorf and LaPlata. I look forward to my trips to St. Mary's County and Virginia to do all my shopping. It's lovely to be around like-minded people who are respecting people's choices to wear a mask or not wear a mask. I suggest you back away from this road to the destruction of the county you claim to care for.
