I am for wearing masks. I am not for it going back and forth and back and forth. Masks helps to prevent the spread of not only COVID, but the flu, colds, other viruses and germs. I am not for people being fined, but if a business is not reenforcing the wearing of masks, then they should be fined. If the customer is not following the mask mandate in a business, government building, and transportation...they should be fined. Then what protection would you provide for disgruntled customers attacking employees and business owners?
